GAS REGISTRATION NOW; RATIONING DEC. 1

Machinery set in motion to save nation's rubber

Needed to keep nation on wheels for the duration

Rationing of gas throughout the country will not start until December 1. The government issued a bulletin Tuesday stating that inability to supply all states with ration books forced the postponement. It was originally supposed to start Nov. 22.

Registration for gas ration books is occurring this week throughout the metropolitan area, but it has been postponed until next week in other districts. The Metropolitan area extends as far west as Wheeling and Elk Grove townships in Cook County and Addison township in DuPage.

Gas rationing is not as big a lugaboo as the average autoist makes himself believe. The rules are simple for the car owner who asks no favors. The first step is the application for an A card which will entitle owner to 16 gallons of gas a month and is expected to permit 240 miles of traveling.

The blanks were received in Wheeling township Wednesday morning and are being delivered to the school houses Thursday morning.

All applications must be signed by the owner of the car and he should present it in person if possible unless there is good cause for his failure to do so.

Information required on the application is practically the same as appears on state license card with the addition of the numbers appearing on each of the five tires that are allowed each vehicle.

The gas rationing is not a move by the government to deprive autoists of needed gas. It is a safety measure to save rubber and to keep autos rolling through the duration.

Baruch committee report stated that if automobiles are to be allowed to continue driving "as usual" one half of civilian cars would be off the road next year and in 1944 there would be an all but complete collapse of the 27-000,000 passenger cars in America.

The purpose of the gas rationing can be summed up as follows: 1. To protect and lengthen the life of 1,000,000 tons of rubber on our passenger cars.

2. To make certain that war workers will get to work until the war is won.

3. To protect the military supply and War requirements.

4. To hold the fort until synthetic supply is here for sure.

5. To preserve the carcasses for recycling by reduced speeds and periodic inspections.

6. To keep civilian cars available for essential transportation.

7. To reduce the mileage of ev-

The pump house over Arlington Heights newest well is completed. This well is furnishing the major part of the daily water supply, delivering 600,000 gallons a day. Other local wells deliver 200,000 gallons during the same period.

Supt. Wm. L. Luehring attended the Water Plant Operator's convention, held in Springfield, Mo. 4 and 5. The village board makes a practice of sending employees to state meetings covering their particular department.

The street department was authorized to purchase 50 barrels of calcium chloride for use on streets during the winter.

Lot of difference between '18 and '42

World War I did not hold a candle to World War II in the number of selectees called into service. The files of the Herald 24 years ago contain the names of all of the local boys called to service. They totaled 133. A conservative estimate as to the number of Arlington boys who are in the War II is several times as many.

Local bowlers win top honors in tournament

Bill Ninneman and Bob Dieball, Arlington youths, walked off with high honors Sunday in a bowling tournament at Deerfield. Bob rolled a third game of 286 to rob a 618 series, coupled with his 100 handicap, and walked away with first prize at 718. Bill was close behind with 606-100-706 total. Bill's high game was 243 in the second.

Per Varnak, local bowling czar, placed seventh in the tourney.

Post office seeks More draftees cooperation in Christmas mail

The Post Office Department now is starting the most gigantic task in its history — the movement of a deluge of Christmas parcels, cards and letters while maintaining the regular flow of millions of pieces of mail daily to and from our armed forces all over the world.

Indications are that the volume of Christmas mail will be the largest on record. Already in September, latest month for which figures are available, retail sales had reached a level second only to the record month of December, 1941, according to the Department of Commerce. And sales are rising.

Such heavy purchases always pre-empt heavy mailings. If thousands of our soldiers, sailors, marines and civilian friends are not to be disappointed at Christmas time, the public must cooperate by mailing earlier than ever before and by addressing letters and parcels properly.

The best efforts of the Post Office Department alone cannot be enough. In view of wartime difficulties faced by the postal system. The public must assist.

About 25,000 experienced postal workers already have been taken by the war services. Arrangements are under way to add thousands of temporary personnel to postal staffs, but this man power is hard to find and is inexperienced. Facilities of railroads and air lines are heavily taxed by movements of huge quantities of war materials and personnel. Extra trucks are almost impossible to obtain. Winter weather, hampering transportation, is beginning.

The free-mailing privilege granted to members of the armed forces has raised their mailings some 30 per cent, it is estimated. Expansion of those forces also is adding rapidly to the postal burden.

The deadline already is past for mailing gifts to Army and Navy personnel overseas with assurance that the parcels will arrive by Christmas. The New York post office reports that in late October, 350,000 such parcels were handled daily in that office alone.

The Post Office Department is making strenuous efforts to avoid such a terrific jam as it faced in 1918 under similar conditions during the First World War. It can succeed in those efforts — and avoid many heartaches for its patrons — if the public will cooperate by mailing early.

Mission Crusaders have rally next Tuesday

Many of the Lutheran churches of the northwest Chicago and suburban area will participate in the rally of the Lutheran Mission Crusaders Tuesday, Nov. 17, at 8:00 p. m., at the Mt. Prospect Lutheran school.

This organization is a group of laymen of the Lutheran church which assists in establishing and maintaining of new mission places. To this meeting, however, all members of the church including women are invited. An interesting program is being prepared.

The Rev. F. C. Strenfert, secretary of missions of the Missouri Synod, has been invited as the guest speaker to talk about his recent trips to mission fields in South America and Hawaii. Preceding this lecture there will be a short business meeting. Other entertainment and a light lunch will also be provided.

Fill Christmas stockings for our Boys in service

"The girls behind the men behind the guns," in other words the WOWS (Women's Ordnance Workers) are turning all out for the Bundles for America Christmas stocking drive. Not content with doing their bit making shells and ammunition all day long, members of the WOWS have volunteered to spend their leisure hours at the Christmas stocking headquarters, 75 East Wacker drive. Here they fill the green stretched red tartan stockings with razors and blades, chewing gum, playing cards, pencils, tooth powder, nail files, combs, soap boxes, note books, stationery, cigarettes and other small things that service men have good use for but, sometimes find it a task to buy.

The WOWS originated at the Herley Machine Company in Chicago. Since its inception only a few weeks ago, the idea has spread like wild fire. Chicago Post No. 1 has been deluged with questions from women in other ordinance plants in Chicago and throughout the country asking for information about organization and how "the girls" can best help themselves and thereby help the men in the service.

With such enthusiastic help as this group is giving the Bundles for America drive, Chicago and suburbs couldn't fall behind its quota of 65,000 gift stockings.

The Arlington Heights quota of 1000 is well on its way, thanks to the hearty cooperation of residents of the village as well as business men.

All members of the Arlington Heights unit of Bundles for America will be busier than ever filling Christmas stockings for servicemen as the result of the benefit desert bridge given by the organization last Friday in the Field House. Gaily colored luncheon cloths covered the roomful of tables where guests enjoyed home made cake and coffee before beginning the afternoon of card playing.

In keeping with the times table prizes were 25c war savings stamps clipped into books for convenience of transfer if the winners had other unfilled books at home. A Christmas tree adorned with red, white and blue lights lent further atmosphere to the occasion. Around the base of the tree were banded filled Christmas stockings that are to be sent to all service men in the Chicago area at holiday time.

Grand prizes of the afternoon were a foundation garment donated by Mrs. Willard Loeber, won by Mrs. Helen Bates; a comforter, donated by Mrs. George Hartford, won by Mrs. John Niven; a ham, donated by the north side A. & P., won by Mrs. Ross Richards; and the above mentioned Christmas tree, (without the trimmings), donated by Kloppe Nurseries, won by Mrs. Peter Lindberg.

Service pins for hours of completed work for the organization were awarded by Mrs. Thomas Coleman to the following members: Mrs. Kenneth Heimlich and Mrs. George Price of Arlington Heights; Mrs. William Danielson, chairman of the Prospect Heights group; Mrs. Fred Hoffmann; Mrs. David Williams and Mrs. Howard Elliott, also of Prospect Heights; Miss Carol Warwick of Inverness Countryside.

Arlington theatre parking space is completed

Here is some good news for patrons of Arlington Theatre. The new parking lot at the rear of the theatre building is completed and available to patrons. The ground is brilliantly lighted and a uniformed attendant will be in charge. There is no fee.

When Arlington theatre opened a year ago, the management told the people of Arlington Heights and vicinity that it was not content with building a beautiful theatre, but that there would be other innovations.

The first of these was the introduction of FM programs preceding the opening of the regular shows. The second is a modern theatre parking lot. As other needs arise, there will be other improvements.

It is the policy of this theatre to give the best possible movie programs in Arlington Heights. Among these was the recent showing of "Reap the Wild Wind" that was shown at few suburban theatres. Another one, "Mrs. Miniver" will be in Arlington, starting Nov. 29, for a four day feature.

"Our increasing attendance," states Manager Knaap, "is evidence that the people of this community appreciate the class of movie programs that we are giving to them. We believe that the best is none too good for our patrons."

Local firms did all the work on the parking lot. Fred Hildebrandt did the grading; Arlington Elevator & Coal Co., furnished the five carloads of cinders; Meyer Electric Co. did the flood lighting and Clarence Gustafson did the sign work.

Open house at public schools next Thursday

Schneberger appointed to OCD executive staff

New training classes are announced

The local Civilian Defense Council Tuesday night unanimously appointed George F. Schneberger, 514 East Euclid, to the executive board. Since the organization of Arlington Heights Civilian Defense activities, Schneberger has been a member of the local council, and a great many accomplishments of the local effort are directly traceable to his untiring and enthusiastic work.

As original mobilization chief, Schneberger aided in the detailed organization of many branches of Civilian Defense. During the recent black-out test, the efficiency of organization, which he helped to perfect, was a contributing factor to the success of the local organization.

Coincident with the announcement of a new schedule of training classes, spokesmen pointed out that the gas and fire defense classes held recently have not been well attended. Likewise, it was urged that the first aid classes, under the supervision of Dr. Best, must be well attended or failure to properly train adequate personnel in first aid will result. The immediate schedule of training classes is as follows:

Thursday, November 12 — Boy Scout Messengers at North Side school. First Aid class, 7:00 o'clock.

Monday, November 16 — Adult messengers, fire-watchers, etc., at Park field house, 8 o'clock. First Aid, beginning of course.

Herald golf editor joins sports staff of Ohio daily

Tommy Kouzmannoff, who has been in the sport world of northern DuPage county and northwest Cook county many years, is now on the sport staff of Springfield, Ohio Daily News, a city of 80,000 inhabitants. Tommy left for his new job ten days ago and after finding a home for his family, came back to Arlington Heights Tuesday to pack up his household goods. He and his family are leaving the old home town Friday.

Tommy's rise in the sport world started in his high school days as a student at Bensenville high school, from which he graduated in 1928. He played baseball 17 years, as member of many of the stronger teams of Cook and DuPage counties, and was given two pitcher tryouts for St. Louis Cardinals.

Since completion of high school work, Tommy has been a frequent contributor to the sport page of Paddock Publications, one time serving as sports editor and later as golf editor.

The annual Paddock amateur golf tournament has been managed by him two seasons. He started his newspaper work as a protégé of the Paddock organization. He has outgrown small town newspaperdom and entering the metropolitan field, has best wishes of the readers of Paddock Publications and the staff of the Herald, from the chief down to the copy boy.

Mr. Kouzmannoff is the father of two children, Jimmie, 3 and Jerry, 1.

Give children good books of excitement, adventure

Parents should not worry too much about the cheap comic books which so attract children. Instead they should place at the children's disposal good books full of excitement and adventure to take the place of the comic books. That was the advice given to members of Prospect Heights Parent-Teachers association Tuesday evening.

Some of the books they recommended are: "Tally-ho," a story of an American boy in a Spitfire; "Mystery in the Tropics," and "A Son of Apple Valley."

All children love good nature study books and those about animals, Miss Flaherty said.

Very young children must be taught to listen, for a child who can listen is a great boon to the teacher and will get more out of school. For these pre-school children there are many stories and nursery rhymes which are beautifully illustrated. Some of the best include: "Rhymes About the Country," "A Child's Garden of Verses," and the "New Tall Mother Goose," a book with Mother Goose brought up to date. Some of

New identification cards superseding all previous OCD identification forms are to be issued to all members and enrollees in training in the Civilian Defense Corps, according to a recent national ruling. The new regulations, described at the regular meeting of the local Office of Civilian Defense held in the village hall Tuesday night, include the photographing and fingerprinting of each Civilian Defense Worker. Plans to carry out the registration required under the new order were drafted at the meeting and arrangements were made to interview and register all OCD workers during the evenings of Wednesday, November 18, and Friday, November 20, at the village hall.

In order to facilitate all the details of properly compiling all the information and to speed up the issuance of the identification cards, a system of "line production" is planned. At least twelve typists will be assigned to the registration of workers and as each registrant is assigned a number, he or she will be ushered to a room reserved for the purpose of making photographs. After the subject has been photographed, fingerprint impressions are to be made under the direction of Police Chief Carl H. Skoog, assisted by Miss Gleah Brown, of 7 West Campbell. Photostatic copies of each card will be made as quickly as possible, and a print of each card bearing the identifying photograph will be issued to the worker. The photostatic negative of the card will be retained in the local OCD files.

Supply Photos If Possible

Due to the short space of time allotted to the completion of registration, spokesmen urged that workers supply their own photographs if at all possible. However, certain specifications must be met — photographs must show a front view of head and shoulders only, and the print must measure exactly 1 in. wide by 1 1/4 in. high. The print will not be returned, as it must be permanently affixed to the original identification card.

Other essential information on the cards include the Worker's official title, address, telephone number, and physical description.

Volunteers are needed for canteen class

A class will be formed for instruction in Canteen work under the auspices of the Red Cross at the Arlington Heights field house Tuesday, Nov. 17. The instruction will be by Mrs. Henry Crawford of Des Plaines. Mrs. McKinley, of the Chicago headquarters will be present Tuesday to introduce the course.

It is the purpose of the government to have an adequate organization for canteen work as a disaster unit. The instruction will show ways to prepare food in large quantities with the least number of utensils and as efficiently as possible. A group of 25 women is needed in Arlington Heights.

This is a volunteer service. The Red Cross is depending on local women to fill the class. Further details can be obtained from Mrs. D. A. Grant, phone 1337.

COLITIS

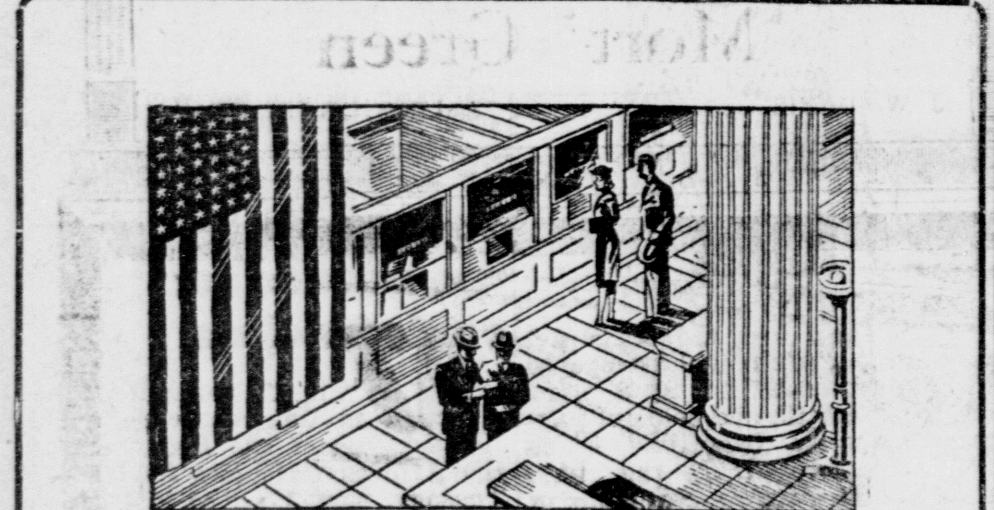

The pace of modern life is fast. Business or professional activities carry right through the meals, leisure hours and even into sleep.

The resulting nervous tension exerts a strong and harmful influence upon the colon, which is the large bowel. The nervous strain irritates the colon, and colitis is a frequent result.

Colitis, mucous colitis, spastic bowel, spastic constipation, results from the spasms or distention of the bowel, unable to do its work properly through the strain of nervous tension or from improper diet or living.

Frequently the result is that the sufferer begins indiscriminate use of cathartics, which may do more harm than good. It is wiser, if you are bothered by these symptoms of fullness and aching, to see your physician and have him prescribe for you the medicine which will gain the most cheerful results. Take the prescription to a pharmacist with the proper training and the proper stocks of drugs in order to gain the surest relief.

Studebaker says:
"Wartime care will save your car"

Government regulation of driving makes it clear that every one of our cars and trucks is vital to the nation's need for essential wartime transportation.

Less driving means more danger from corrosion, sticking parts and leaking engine gaskets. Slower speeds make small irregularities of engine performance more bothersome.

Your car should be lubricated and inspected on the basis of time rather than mileage intervals. Use your car carefully. Give it regular maintenance. This is the best way to preserve it. Simple, yes, but important.

Studebaker dealers are engaged in a wartime service program—to assist you—regardless of the make of car or truck you own.

Gas ration

ery vehicle so that the total national average for all kinds of vehicles will be greatly reduced, and in order to bring this mileage down to the required low average of less than 5,000 miles, millions of cars must get along on 2,880 miles and less because many essential War vehicles will require over 5,000 miles.

It is part of the rationing plan to provide some tire service for every car owner, based on the importance of his need to the country at war. That tire service will be allotted on the same basis as the gas is rationed.

From experience in the east the government knows that a large number of car owners will ask for applications for additional gas and every car owner has that privilege.

However, the members of the local boards must guide their action by a set of rules, which make it almost as difficult to secure extra gas as to get recaptured tires.

"A" card means monthly mileage of 240.

"A" card plus "B", a mileage of 540.

"A" card plus "C", a mileage of over 541.

The possessor of a "B" card can not necessarily drive 540 miles. The rationing board has the right to scale down that "B" card rationing to a mileage that fits the exact needs of the car owner. The same thing applies to the holder of a "C" card. Just because he has been given such a card does not mean that he can drive a 1,000 or 3,000 miles a month. The board will decide how much of that driving is a necessity and that will be all that he can drive. Only the holder of an "A" card can use his gas for whatever purpose he desires.

The rationing boards have only received so far a skeleton of instructions and their members are almost as much in the dark as the average autoist.

However, the instructions read that it is better to give too little gas to an applicant than too much, as such error can be corrected, but too much gas means wasted car mileage.

The registrars receiving applications this week will be unable to go into the merits of higher gas rationing. Autoists, needing additional gas must content themselves with properly filling out their application. They can only hope that their car will come under one of the classes that entitle them to that extra gas.

"I need it in my business" means very little unless that business is almost indispensable to the war effort, home morale or to public health and safety.

Motorists were cautioned, however, that gasoline would be denied to violators of any of the following regulations all of which are part of the mileage rationing plan:

1. All vehicle speeds are reduced to 35 miles an hour. Rationing boards will be notified of convictions of motorists on speeding charges, and have the authority to refuse further gas rations.
2. All passenger cars must be inspected every four months by authorized service stations. If the tires show signs of abuse, certificates may not be issued for further gas rations.
3. All passenger car applicants for gas are required to sell to the government all tires in excess of five. Violation is punishable by a heavy fine and a long jail sentence.
4. All passenger car applicants must carry a "Tire Inspection Record" showing the serial numbers of the five tires mounted on their cars. If, during an inspection, tires other than those listed are found to be mounted on the car, the offending motorist will be denied further gas rations and will face federal prosecution.
5. All owners of commercial vehicles must secure certificates of war necessity issued by the Office of Defense Transportation, which authorizes the basic mileage for that vehicle. Gasoline rations will be allocated on the basis of these certificates.

Mt. Prospect Lions net $300 for servicemen

The Mt. Prospect Lions club has announced that as a result of the fine support given by the faithful local residents and those outside people who attended the dance given October 17, that approximately $300.00 would be sent to local boys at Christmas this year.

Last year the local club sent each man in service a gift of cash which was taken from club funds. This year, because of the number of men in service, it was deemed necessary that a benefit dance be scheduled. That the dance was a success is attributed to the fact that our local residents can usually be depended on to support a worthy cause.

The Lions also would like to thank all of those people, not Lions, who helped to make the dance the success it was.

Palatine gives 107 pints of blood

During the two-day stay of the Red Cross' mobile blood donor unit in Palatine on November 4 and 5, 107 pints of blood were contributed for the armed forces by the people of Palatine and other nearby communities. It was announced today by Joseph H. King, chairman of the Red Cross Blood Donor Service in Chicago.

This blood will be processed into dried plasma to be used to give life-saving transfusions to our fighting men the world over, Mr. King said. On behalf of our soldiers, sailors, marines and coast guardsmen, the American Red Cross extends their thanks to those residents of Palatine and vicinity who so generously gave their blood, it was stated by Mr. King.

Pointing out that the need for blood donors is great, Mr. King said that during the next ten months, the Chicago Blood Donor Service must deliver 250,000 pints of blood to the Army and Navy. Since the opening of the Red Cross Blood Donor Service in Chicago in February, the quota has been increased three times, the last jump bringing it to 3,500 donors a week, he said.

The Lesson-Sermon

was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 8.

The Golden Text

"As by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous" (Romans 5:19).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord; and he delighteth in his way. Though he fall, he shall not be utterly cast down: for the Lord upholdeth him with his hand. The law of his God is in his heart; none of his steps shall slide." (Psalms 37: 23, 24, 31).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"Life is, always has been, and ever will be independent of matter; for Life is God, and man is the idea of God, not formed materially but spiritually, and not subject to decay and dust. The great truth in the Science of being, that the real man was, is, and ever shall be perfect, is incontrovertible; for if man is the image, reflection, of God, he is neither inverted, subverted, but upright and Godlike" (p. 200).

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

FEW exploits of the war have captured the imagination as have those of the American Volunteer Group—the aviators who, in Rangoon, inflicted the first air defeat the Japanese had suffered in nine years, and who for weeks managed to outwit and outfight the far greater force of the Japanese.

BRIGADIER GENERAL CLAIRE CHENNAULT

From that date to July 4, the A.V.G.'s were credited officially with the destruction of 286 Japanese airplanes, and there were, by conservative estimate, probably 300 more that fell in jungles, mountains and surrounding waters, whose destruction could not be proved. Approximately 1,500 Japanese airmen lost their lives in encounters with them. Against these figures, the Group lost eight men killed in action, three on the ground as the result of bombings, and four missing in action. Again and again the Tokyo radio announced, with wishful thinking, that the Japanese "had completely destroyed the thousands of A.V.G. fliers."

The boys were written up in their hometown newspapers, of course, and occasionally, when mail got through, they had a chance to see what was said of them. Once, however, one of them made the mistake of flaunting his home paper editorial which acclaimed him, "our shining knight of the air, Fighting Billy." For weeks thereafter Bill endured from his comrades such remarks as, "Will the shining knight of the air please pass the beans?"

Mr. Whelan tells us what these men were like and what they did, how they were hero-worshipped by the Chinese people, and how they scandalized the elite Rangoon society by dancing at the country club in their work boots and open shirts. Though to most people they were known as "The Flying Tigers," Madame Chiang Kai-Shek had another name for them. She called them, "My angels, with or without wings."

Book-of-the-Month Club is offering a double selection for December—"We Took to the Woods," by Louise Dickinson Rich, a true story about a woman who licked hard times in the city by bringing up her family in the Maine woods, and "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," by Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough, which deals with the authors' sojourn in Paris in the days when that city was still gay and free.

Among the interesting personalities of whom Professor Russell Blankenship tells in his book about the early days of the Northwest, "And There Were Men," is one Hank Vaughan, born in 1847. Al though Hank had an amazing career in horse-thieving and man-killing, in appearance he was a small inoffensive-looking man with quiet manners and a gift of pleasant conversation. But he was highly sensitive to remarks about his character and business. Once the editor of a local Oregon paper printed a news item which informed readers, "Hank Vaughan, the gambler, is dead." The notice was inaccurate in two respects. Hank was known for many accomplishments, but gambling wasn't among them. Also, he wasn't dead. By way of correcting the misstatements, he rode to the newspaper office waving a gun, and sent editors, reporters and printers skipping into the street.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Burkitt of Kokomo, Ind., spent the week-end at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Baxter.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McElhose entertained a group of relatives and friends from Chicago on Sunday in honor of the birthday of the host, and again on Monday evening friends in the village were guests in the McElhose home honoring the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. N. K. Barr spent Tuesday at Belvidere where Mr. Barr enjoyed the day's pheasant hunting. Mr. Barr chose to take a week of his vacation at the time of the open season on the ring-necked, and hopes to bag his limit before the time is up.

Annual meeting of boy scouts council Nov. 19

The annual business meeting of the Northwest Suburban Council Boy Scouts of America will be held Thursday evening, November 19, at the municipal building in Des Plaines, at 8:00 o'clock.

At this meeting the annual election of officers for 1943 will be held and reports of officers and chairmen of operating committees on progress of the program during the year will be given.

The annual banquet of the Northwest Suburban Council will be held on December 10, in the Webster Hall of the Congregational church in Des Plaines.

All those interested in Scouting are cordially invited to attend the christening ceremony of the new training base of the S.S.S. SEA-HAWK of Barrington, to be held next Sunday afternoon, November 15, at 3:00 o'clock, in the North Park in Barrington. This officially opens for use the land ship which has been provided as a meeting place for the Sea Scouts.

The social program is an important part of the program for young men, and on Friday evening, November 20, the first annual Sea Scout formal ball of the Northwest Suburban Council Boy Scouts of America will be held at the Rand Park field house in Des Plaines. This is for all of the Sea Scouts of the Council, and they will have as their special guests the Scoutmasters and assistant Scoutmasters, members of the commissioner staff and the executive board of the Council and the senior Scouts of the council.

George Williams' band of nine pieces will furnish the music. The Sea Scouts of the Council are eagerly looking forward to this high point of the social program of the year.

Rifle club news

Saturday we had the largest turn-out of the outdoor season at the club's range in the village disposal grounds east of the American Legion home. We were pleased with the good attendance because the Chicago Tribune sent out one of their reporters to get a story for their Metropolitan section. A few pictures were taken and in general the meeting was enjoyed by all and very much worthwhile.

An inter-club match was held. Sides were chosen with Harry Levine and Jos. Wisersky as captains. The match was for high team score at 25 yards, prone position using iron sights, each man firing 25 shots with a possible score of 200. Harry Levine's team won the match with a score of 1147 to 1141.

partment of Illinois, where he conducted a training session for Scouters of the American Legion, at the Annual Post Officers' School, held at the Pere Marquette Hotel. Scouters representatives of the American Legion Post of Central Illinois were in attendance, and from the enthusiasm shown and reports received, there is a considerable increase in active sponsorship of Boy Scout Packs, Troops and ships on the part of the American Legion.

1078 for Joe Wisersky's team. The individual scores were as follows: Collignon, 185, Golwey, 182, Patrick, 179, Cochran, 175, Ackley and Peterson, 170, Scherf, 168, Hill, 163, Welch, 161, Hall, 152, Malchow, 150, Wisersky, 119, and Rapp, 95.

We may be able to shoot once or twice more at the outdoor range, depending upon the weather; by that time we hope to have the indoor range ready for use. An announcement will be made later in regard to the date.

Capacity crowd sees 'Broadcast Review'

A capacity audience at both nights performance of the "Broadcast Review" presented last Thursday and Friday evenings in the Methodist Little Theatre Auditorium, gave concrete evidence that amateur theatricals are still popular.

From the moment the curtain rose on the all girl orchestra, composed of members of the Melodiers, who had obligingly donned wigs, skirts and blouses for the occasion, to the moment that the crowd went "wild" over the appearance of "Mike" Dobbins as Katey Schmidt, the show was a hit.

The comedy parts were riotous, and the more serious numbers brought forth appreciative silence from the audience. Every act was well planned, and the excellent music presented by the quartette, the sextette and the church choir was greatly enjoyed by the audience.

Mike Dobbins stole the show in his Katey Schmidt act, appearing in a voluminous dinner dress of polka dot blue, to sing a favorite number of the famous personality. His character portrayal was most realistic, and he was called back for several encores, which he presented in true Dobbins fashion.

Marvin Prellberg served as radio announcer, and Mr. Jack Everett directed the music numbers.

Mr. Minor McEuen, Mr. Joe Everett and Rev. Milo Vondracek, the committee in charge of arrangements for the affair wish to thank all who in any way contributed to the success of the affair.

Grade school children write patriotic poems

The children of the public grade schools in the village are cooperating with the local committee on waste and fat conservation, with Mrs. Tom Hildebrand its chairman, by composing bits of verse and jingles for newspaper publicity. These verses will appear from week to week, as a reminder to the housewives in the village to save their fats, and sell them to their local market men, to aid in the war effort.

Fats for Victory

Strain
The fat
In clean
Tin can

Then take
It to
The marketman

Do this often
And you will be Helping us
To victory.

Martha Collins, 4th Grade

Save Grease

Save your grease,
Save your grease,
Strain it in a pan.

Save your grease,
Save your grease,
And help to fight Japan.

Mariann Young, 4th Grade

Grease and Fat

Grease and fat,
Grease and fat,
Save it from the frying pan.

Put it in a nice clean can
And take it to your market man.

Carol Ann Orth, 4th Grade

Grease

Grease, grease
Don't throw it away
Save it

And win the war some day.

Off to the market
With a pound or so
Then to the factories
It will go.

The grease
Will then explosives be
And help us
To win our victory.

Stress need for more workers in surgical unit

While there has been a splendid response for workers for the Surgical dressing unit of the Red Cross in the village, still more workers are needed, especially on Wednesdays.

The unit is open each week on Mondays and Wednesdays from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m., with evening hours on Monday from 7:30 to 10 p. m.

The quota for the local unit has been more than doubled, showing the great need for bandages and other surgical dressings, and any one interested is asked to come to the Public Health room in the village hall, on the proper days.

IN MEMORIAM

Auguste Naske
In loving memory of my dear wife, our Mother and Grandmother who passed away Nov. 15, 1939.
We think of you in silence,
No eyes can see us weep,
But many silent tears we shed
When others are asleep
What would we give to clasp your hand
Your cheery smile to see
To hear your voice we loved so well
That meant so much to us.
Husband, children, and grandchildren.

Special high school election

November 28

Ost candidate for president; Williams member

There will be a special election for a president and member of the high school board on Saturday, November 28, from the hours of 12 noon to 7 p. m.

This election is made necessary by the resignation of president, H. A. Kincaid, who is now in the armed forces.

W. G. Ost, who has been acting as president since Mr. Kincaid's departure, handed his resignation as member to the board last Thursday night and will be a candidate for president.

Dr. R. S. Williams will be a candidate to fill out Mr. Ost's unexpired time as a member of the board.

Mr. Ost is a veteran member of the high school board and has a wide experience in all school affairs.

No one takes a greater interest in the youngsters and in the school than Mr. Ost and it is practically certain that he will be the unanimous choice of the township for president of the board.

Dr. Williams, who is noted for his civic mindedness and energy in worthwhile public affairs, should make an excellent school board member and the combination of Mr. Ost and Dr. Williams, should receive the endorsement of the voters at the election on November 28.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kruse, of Mt. Prospect celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Nov. 10, with a reception for around 300 friends and relatives at the Rand Park field house in Des Plaines. "Fifty-Fifty Cooperation" is what the Kruses say makes for a happy married life.

Fifty years ago, on Nov. 10, 1892 Sophie Seegars and Wm. Kruse were married by the Rev. Wm. Leverance at the Immanuel Lutheran church in Des Plaines. The day was lovely and warm. The bride recalls that she wore a black silk dress, trimmed in black lace, with a veil and wreath of white wax flowers, wearing black cloth high-button shoes and long fingerless mitts.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's father in Cumberland. After the honeymoon the newlyweds moved into their home on Rand rd., where they lived six years, until the death of Mr. Kruse's father.

Prospect Hts. mail now sorted in Chicago P. O.

Mail for Prospect Heights is now being made up especially for Prospect Heights in Chicago, where formerly the local mail was sorted out at Mt. Prospect. Postmaster Galbraith advises all residents on rural routes and any other residents in Prospect Heights who have given their address as Mt. Prospect to inform their correspondents of the change. In the future all mail for this community should be addressed to Prospect Heights to avoid delay in getting mail.

At Christmas time this wrong address might slow down the mail as much as three days, Mr. Galbraith said.

During the month of October mail was 20 per cent heavier at the local post office. During September for the whole United States more mail was sent than at any other time except the last record month of December, 1941.

Mail your Christmas packages and cards around December 1, to avoid disappointment. Postmaster Galbraith advises. The postoffice department is trying to avoid the terrific jam which occurred in 1918 under similar circumstances and is encountering many difficulties because 25,000 of its experienced workers have been taken by the war services and also because of the heavy burdens now being imposed on all transportation facilities.

Arrangements have been made for extra help at the Prospect Heights post office, but the postmaster asks the cooperation of everyone in the community in mailing early and in careful wrapping and addressing.

Recall black silk wedding dress fifty years ago

Mr. and Mrs. William Kruse, of Mt. Prospect celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Nov. 10, with a reception for around 300 friends and relatives at the Rand Park field house in Des Plaines. "Fifty-Fifty Cooperation" is what the Kruses say makes for a happy married life.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's father in Cumberland. After the honeymoon the newlyweds moved into their home on Rand rd., where they lived six years, until the death of Mr. Kruse's father.

When they moved into his father's house at River and Rand where he operated his father's tavern. They lived there 16 years and then moved back into their first home until 1930 when they moved to Mt. Prospect where they are living at the present time.

Mr. and Mrs. Kruse had nine children, of whom eight are living. Mr. Kruse says that all nine of them were not as much trouble to raise as most modern women have with one or two. The children are Rudolph, of Glenview, Lydia Hartmann, of Wheeling, Agnes Winkelman, Des Plaines, Esther Haase, Des Plaines, Henry, Mt. Prospect, Conrad, Wm. of Des Plaines, who lives in the Kruse's first home, and Sophie Mulso, of Barrington. There are three grandchildren who are serving in the army. They are Robert Hartmann, who is in Hawaii, Wilbur Kruse, Camp McCoy, Wisconsin, and Marvin, who is in a camp in Louisiana.

THEY'LL EAT AND EAT AND EAT!

Here is something different in dinner rolls. Different and super-delicious! But I warn you. Make an extra large batch, because they'll be popular. You'll be rewarded by seeing guests and family eat and eat and eat as long as there's a crumb of these delicious rolls left.

How Are They Different?
To begin with, they are much richer than most rolls. They are made from a very soft dough—and when baked they are rather thin—some might call them undersized. But that's the way they are. So do not fear you've made some horrible mistake when you see that they are not high and puffy. That's not their nature. They are thin and crusty, wonderfully tender, and even more wonderfully delicious. Certainly this sounds like extravagant praise. But just watch and listen when they are served. See how many times you're called on to refill the bread tray. Then you'll understand.

QUICK SURPRISE ROLLS
1 cup unseasoned mashed or riced potatoes (packed lightly in cup)
1 1/2 cups scalding hot milk
3/4 cup shortening (not too cold)
2 cakes compressed yeast
1/2 cup sugar
2 tsp. salt
4 to 4 1/2 cups SIFTED all purpose flour
2 tbsp. butter, melted

Put mashed potatoes in mixing bowl. Then stir in the hot milk and shortening. Let stand until lukewarm (about one-half hour). Add crumbled yeast and sugar and salt. Stir and measure flour. Add about one-half of it. Beat with spoon until almost smooth and very elastic (batter will fall from spoon in "sheets"). Beat in melted and cooled shortening. Add most of the remaining flour and work it in with the hand (possibly using the maximum amount) until dough is possible to handle. Mix well.

Turn dough on a lightly floured board and cover. Let stand 10 minutes to tighten up. Then knead until smooth and elastic. Roll out 1/4 inch thick. Cut into rounds with biscuit cutter. Fold like parkhouse rolls. Let rise on lightly greased pan until double in bulk, 1 to 1 1/2 hours. Bake 15 minutes in a hot oven, 400° F.

Many guests honor Russell Reeds at celebration

Seventy-five guests assembled at the Idle Hour Saturday evening where Mr. and Mrs. August Grewe entertained in honor of their daughter and husband, Corp. and Mrs. Russell Reed. The party took the form of a belated wedding reception.

The Reeds had planned to be married here last holiday season, but Pearl Harbor cancelled their plans. They were married in California in the spring.

Among the out of town guests to come farthest for the party were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grewe of Salem, Wis., and Mrs. L. Hofer of Henry, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. T. Reinhardt, of Varna, Ill. Besides local friends, other guests came from Chicago, Bensenville, Franklin Park, Itasca and Glenview.

The evening was spent in visiting and dancing. A buffet luncheon was served about 11 p. m., after which the guests departed, showering words of congratulations for the young couple. Later the same evening the young couple shared in a farewell party at Bensenville for Corp. Reed's younger brother, William Reed, who left for the army Monday.

Monday evening eighteen relatives accompanied Corp. and Mrs. Reed to the North Western station where they left for the west coast on the Challenger at 9:20 p. m. The Reeds celebrated the beginning of their eighth month of married life on the train this week.

In spite of conflicting social activities within the community, the movies at the local gym were well attended. The door prize consisting of $200 in war stamps was won by Miss Geraldine Goumas of Northbrook. A like prize will go to some movie fan each week.

Willard Ehlers is one of the young men of southern Lake county who left for Fort Sheridan to enter the service this week.

Pass building ordinance for Wheeling

Board decides not to replace police chief

A building code ordinance to regulate and control the erection, construction, alteration and repair of buildings and other structures in the village of Wheeling, was passed recently by the village board. Carl Moeller has been named building commissioner.

All persons desiring to erect a new building, or remodel old buildings should make application for a permit by consulting the commissioner, Mr. Moeller. This application when approved by the commissioner, must be filed with the village clerk with required fee, after which the building permit will be issued.

All residents of the village are asked to comply with this order which is an attempt to improve sanitary conditions and to eliminate fire hazards within the village limits.

Full-time Local Police Not Needed

A question of importance discussed at the adjourned meeting of the Wheeling village board Monday evening was that of police protection, due to the resignation of Police Chief Ray Lesch. Because of the expected decrease in traffic during the period of gas rationing it was decided not to hire a full time officer at present.

However, this does not mean that the village is without police protection. The county highway police patrol the state roads thru the village regularly, and will give prompt aid in case of emergencies. Also every member of the village board and the president are invested with the authority of a police officer.

The board also took action to have the village water pump thoroughly overhauled and placed in first class condition before the winter season. Fire hydrants will also be carefully checked to insure efficient fire protection.

Surprise party

Miss Marjorie Mohr was very much surprised last Friday evening when a date to bowl turned out to be a surprise party and handkerchief shower in her honor.

Marjorie expected to spend the evening bowling with Miss Marilyn Miller at the Wheeling alleys. A telephone call from Des Plaines took them to the home of Miss Miller's sister, Mrs. Arthur Lawrence in Des Plaines where other guests were already assembled. Miss Mohr will enter the Navy Nurses Corps next week.

Mrs. Charles Updell is away visiting her daughter, Mrs. John Engstrom at Cambridge, Mass.

The Frances Gloden family drove to Guttenberg, Ia., to spend the week-end. They were accompanied by the Allen Wicks of Barrington. Mrs. Gloden and the two little girls planned to spend a week in Guttenberg which was her home town.

Mrs. Frank Hodge and her mother, Mrs. A. Vanderwerker moved to Arlington Heights last week. They had been living in the Schwengel residence on Milwaukee ave., but had to leave because of the unsanitary condition in the building which has now been condemned by the board of health.

Mrs. George Sicks entertained a group of relatives at a dinner party on Sunday, in honor of her son, Lt. John Sicks, who was home on furlough.

Need many more blood donors

Red Cross blood donor service needs more volunteers. This service is a major responsibility of the Chicago Chapter because of its direct bearing on the welfare of our wounded fighting men.

All Red Cross jobs are important, but this one is particularly so, due to the extension of fronts on which Americans are fighting and the very real need for blood plasma requested by the Army and Navy. The quota assigned to the Chicago Area has not yet been met and every healthy person is urged to give his or her blood.

Are you able? Then why not make an appointment at once either with the Loop Center at 5 N. Wabash in Chicago, or with the mobile unit as it visits nearby communities.

A good number of Wheeling residents were donors at Palatine last week and we are proud of them. (List on page 1, section 2). There may still be vacancies to be filled by late appointments to help Arlington fill its quota this week-end. Call the Arlington committee if you are interested.

The Ladies Pinocle club met with Mrs. George Evert last week. As it was the birthday of the hostess, members of the club remembered her with pretty gifts and she surprised them with a chicken luncheon. Prizes were won by Mrs. Fred Moeller and Mrs. Hans Schmidt.

The Clarence Hoffmann family has returned to their home in Burlington, Wis. They had been making their home with the John Hoffmanns temporarily.

Your PARTY LINE is helping HIM!

Taking party-line telephone service may not seem to be a contribution to Victory... but it is!

Telephone lines take copper—lots of it—and there's no substitute we can use. Fighting equipment to win this war takes copper, too.

That's why we have not been building more telephone lines for civilian use and why existing facilities must be stretched and shared as far as possible. Party lines instead of individual lines release thousands of tons of vital materials for war uses.

That's why on a party line it is patriotic to be a good "telephone neighbor" to others on the line.

IT'S PATRIOTIC TO BE A PARTY-LINE "GOOD NEIGHBOR"

1. Answer your calls promptly.
2. Make sure the line is not in use before dialing or signaling operator.
3. Avoid interrupting the other party's conversation.
4. Replace receiver promptly after a call.
5. Try not to monopolize the line with long conversations.

Fall in grease pit proves fatal

Falling into a grease pit at a deked gas station early Friday morning proved fatal to Arthur Rathburg, West Lake ave., and Waukegan rd.

A fuse had blown in a market where Rathburg works and he had gone to the service station to insert a replacement. He stumbled and fell into the pit, suffering a skull fracture.

Immediate first aid was given by a local doctor, and he was then rushed to the Evanston hospital via ambulance. He was dead upon arrival at the hospital, however.

Coroner's verdict was accidental death.

The Fence Post

Edited by BETTY WALTERS

This department was created for the many readers and friends of this publication who care to express their personal opinions on the many timely topics of the day. We are not so interested in which side of the fence you occupy, as we are in the sincerity and good faith exemplified in your writing. Bits of poetry, etc., are also invited. Please sign your full name and address, but we will gladly withhold same on request. Contributions should be sent to this paper, addressed to the "Fence Post Editor."

If the Shoe Fits

How many of you ladies have given up any of your leisure time and put in a personal appearance at your local Red Cross station? I hear that hours and even whole days pass by in Mt. Prospect with one person showing up at headquarters, although an instructor is there ready and willing to show you how to make the much needed dressings, etc., for our boys over there.

Ladies, when will you wake up to the fact that your country has a war to win, and it needs your help? If you cannot go for the whole day, go for a few hours or even one hour, but please help a cause so worthy of your assistance.

Why not really put your duty to your country ahead of a few of your other pleasures, such as your eternal bridge games or your movies? Keep on with your get-togethers, but get-together making dressings or what ever you are called upon to do in your neighborhood.

There is no glamor or special fun in making surgical dressings, you may get bored, and you may not like changing into a clean dress and removing your nail polish before you are allowed to "work," but think of the satisfaction and happiness you will feel in doing your bit in fighting this war.

Mrs. L. N.

The Scrap Heap

Maybe I'm wasting a lot of time in writing this, and maybe you're too busy to even take time out to read it. I don't doubt it a bit. Maybe you are farm folks. Maybe the hired hand quit, you to work in a war production plant. You can't pay war plant wages, so you have to get along the best way you can, and you're way behind with the fall work. Of course you know there is a lot of junk iron scattered all over the place. It surely would help out a lot in making new metal for the Army and the Navy, but you just can't seem to find the time to break it up and haul it to the junk heap in town. Maybe it's too rainy, or too cold outside to be bothered with it. You're awfully sorry, but you would really like to help the war effort along.

Maybe you are town or city folks, you work six or seven days a week, got to make all the money you can while the making is good. When you get home at night, just don't have a minute to yourself, can't find time to hunt through the garage, the basement, the store room, or back yard for that scrap junk. There is quite a lot of it there though and it sure would help out some to make tanks, guns, planes and shell or bomb casings. So sorry, but you really mean well, you're buying bonds, donating to the U.S.O., and the Red Cross, you're trying to cooperate with the war effort. Maybe a little later on you'll get that junk together. Well, maybe that's a fair alibi. You don't want to be a slacker, do you? "But."

Maybe you are an executive or owner of a factory, a shop, or a store, you're quite sure there is a lot of scrap metal or worn out machinery just lying around, got no more use for it, kind of forgotten all about it, this business of making all the money you can while there is a good chance, has kept you so busy, you just can't seem to find time to look around, and have it trucked to the junk yard, and besides, on nice days, you like to go out and play golf, or see a good game of baseball or football. A business man has got to get some diversion, and get away from business worries once in a while, don't he? You know you should do your part in the all out war effort, because you have a nice profitable defense contract. You really want to do your part, you'll get around to it some day soon. But wait a minute.

Remember that son, or nephew, or the neighbors boy, who was called into service a little while ago? He is wearing that uniform for you, fighting with the best he has, to keep your home, your farm, and your job, safe for you. He is out there under the open skies in the rain, the cold, and the storm, and he gets mighty tired too. He'd like to catch up on world news, in a nice comfortable living room, and to earn a lot of that big money, or play golf, or see a game of baseball or football, but he's got a big job to do, and he doesn't get big money for it either, he's no slacker, but he can't scrap without your scrap. Some day he's coming back, he's going to see all that junk laying around, what excuse are you going to make to him? Maybe he won't come back because there wasn't enough equipment to go around, to fight with, then what alibi will you make folks?

Let's get busy, so we can all live the democratic American way. Every ton of junk scrap spells a big victory for them, and for us. William H. Schwankoff.

Local Merchants

The war has brought many changes, among other things the home town merchant has come in to his own.

I do not believe we have appreciated Bill or Henry in the corner grocery store, they even cashed our checks if we needed ready money in a hurry.

Now is the time when our local merchants will remember the Joneses and the Smiths that gave them their patronage in better days.

I never could understand what prompted folks to spend time and gasoline to go on spending sprees and make purchases that could just as well have been made at home. With some people it was a habit to buy groceries for the whole week at one of the markets in a larger community. Of course they had saved a few pennies, but again the saving was probably spent in gasoline and possibly luncheon.

The good will that is created by trading at home is something lasting and well worth the occasional difference it may have cost us in cash. The neighborhood cinema is something else that should mean more to us, why pay three prices to see a movie in the larger picture houses when in a short time the same features come to the local theaters at a fraction of the cost and with no transportation expenses added. You will go a long way to find a nicer little theater than our Arlington movie house with a friendly, homey atmosphere.

PRANKSTERS BURN PORCH IN DES PLAINE'S

Halloween this year was quiet due to war time restrictions but Des Plaines had one exception. Three youths were apprehended immediately after they had poured gasoline on a porch and set it afire. A cruising squad spotted the blaze just as it started, quickly extinguished the fire, and apprehended the youths.

SUES FOR $25,000

He claimed he was a guest in Huppert's car on Nov. 8, last year, on Rad rd., at Ballard rd. and was injured when Huppert drove so recklessly that the car went off the road and Huppert was so badly hurt he died Nov. 10.

Maine high school decides to "go out of business"

Maine high school last week decided to "go out of business" in regard to selling athletic equipment and other articles to any and all students. The board acted upon recommendation of principal Frank Holmes.

Student Activities, Inc., is a fund that has been operated to defray numerous expenses of the school and receives its support from the students. The fund included a 50 to 100 thousand dollar annual retail business in swimming suits, tennis shoes, etc. Because of this conflict with local business houses much resentment had been built around the fund.

As soon as present stocks are used, the retail selling will be dropped, except for shoe strings, pencils, and a few other small items.

Also, any "leftovers" from individual class money-raising campaigns were transferred to the class individual name. Thus, when the fourth year was reached and the need for additional funds for prom, class gift, etc., was present, no reserve was available and the seniors had to dig deep into their own pockets. All this will be charged to the obviously better method of having individual accounts for each class through their four year existence.

Boiler explodes, levels building in Des Plaines

An unfilled boiler exploded recently in Des Plaines, almost leveling the garage in which it was housed. The owner, a Mr. Barbieri, had lighted the fire under the boiler without checking to see if it was filled. No one was injured in the blast.

Sideline incident of the blast is that the garage is located in an outlying district of Des Plaines, necessitating a contract to warrant fire protection by the Des Plaines department. No contract had been signed, but the firemen appeared anyway. As a result additional contracts were signed with numerous neighbors.

WPB allows some parts for well

The city of Des Plaines was recently turned down for repair parts for their reserve well by WPB but that board changed its mind last week and permitted a part-order of the request.

The well pump is out of order and priorities were requested for its repair. Des Plaines' only other pump running at capacity fills the city's needs but a second pump is needed for emergencies.

Previously the board had turned a deaf ear to the proposal, turning the well merely a "stand-by" unit.

SLEEP OVERTAKES TWO DRIVERS; BOTH LAND IN DITCH

Sleep overtook two drivers Friday night, both of them going into the ditch but suffering no injuries.

L. Chase of Round Lake was traveling north on River rd. at Lake ave. when he slumbered, running off the road and hitting a tree.

Joe Junius, Chicago truck driver, fell asleep while traveling along rte. 14 west of Wolf rd. He struck a light pole but was unhurt.

THREE DES PLAINE'S GIRLS HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Three Des Plaines girls were injured last week Wednesday when their auto overturned at a sharp turn on River rd. at River and. Arleen Kohl, Lee Whitney, and Marion Reiter were the three girls, riding with two youths. Driver Max Kelmman of Highland Park received a skull fracture.

Ask draft boards to defer high school boys

Irving F. Pearson, Executive Secretary of the Illinois Education Association, today announced that the Board of Directors of the association at a recent meeting directed that appeals be sent to national and state draft officials, congressmen, and others, in behalf of 18-year-old youths in their last year of high school.

The appeals will suggest that youths who reach the age of 18 years during a semester of their senior year be permitted to complete the semester's work before induction into military service. This procedure will make it possible for the young men to plan their school work accordingly, while at the same time school authorities can revamp individual programs in order that high school graduation may be assured, even though it be expedited for those who reach 18 years of age during the first semester of the senior year.

The Board feels that the completion of the high school course would prove of sufficient value to the military forces as well as to the individual to warrant the delay of conscription for a few weeks at the most.

Photostat draft cards illegal

Colonel Paul G. Armstrong, Illinois Director of Selective Service, today warned registrants, photographers, and photostat companies, that it is a violation of Federal Law to make photographic or photostatic copies of a Selective Service registration certificate, the small white card which every registrant is required to have on his person at all times.

"It has come to my attention recently," said Colonel Armstrong, "that some registrants are having exact reproductions made of their registration certificates so that they can carry the reproduction and leave the original at home and thus avoid loss of the original certificate. This is a dangerous procedure which may lead to arrest and possible conviction by a federal court of a charge of counterfeiting a Selective Service registration certificate."

The Illinois Director added that photographers and photostat companies who reproduce an official Selective Service certificate in any form whatsoever will be immediately reported to the United States District Attorney for prosecution. Violation of the Selective Service law carries with it a possible fine of five years in the penitentiary or a $10,000 fine, or both.

Pearl Harbor veteran given army discharge

William Pasternak, who took part in the battle of Pearl Harbor last December 7, is visiting his brother, Mr. Joseph Pasternak, Elmhurst rd., Prospect Heights. Mr. Pasternak has just received his honorable discharge from the army following a period of three months hospitalization and is resting up here until he is able to pursue his new job in a defense plant.

At the time the Japs attacked Pearl Harbor Mr. Pasternak, who was a private, first class, in the army, was in the Schofield barracks doing the regular morning cleanup with the other men.

"It was deadly quiet," he recalls. "Then about 7:40, we heard something exploding over at Wheeler Field, about the quarters of a mile away. We didn't know what was happening. Then we saw planes coming over and were able to identify them. We grabbed our uniforms and ran up to the roof of the barracks where we had 14 machine guns and started shooting to drive them off. Forty-two planes were shot down that day, and we must have accounted for some of them."

"The first few minutes when it happened, I was scared, but after that everything went automatically, the result of our long training."

Recently when he was transferred to the hospital and arrived on the west coast, Mr. Pasternak said he was shocked at the apathy of the people. "They just don't seem to have the feeling that there is a war on," he said. "The boys are fighting day in and day out, but people here talk about gas rationing. Why in Hawaii they've had gas rationing, not to mention liquor and every other sort of rationing, ever since Pearl Harbor, and everyone accepts it."

"Hawaii is ready for any attack now," he reports. "The civilians are well organized and are standing up well under the constant strain. Every night there is a complete blackout. Everyone has to be off the streets by 9:45, and every light must be out by 10:00. Otherwise there is a fifty dollar fine or sixty day jail sentence. And they don't fool about this either," he said. "Out there they know there's a war on."

Lt. Trygve J. Maseng, 502 South Main Street, Mt. Prospect, who received his wings Tuesday in the Army Air Corps at Lubbock Field, Texas.

Washington

Paddock Publications:

Just finished reading the Enterprise and I must say I sure enjoy it. I meant to drop in when I was home and tell you in person how much I enjoyed it each week, but having only seven days at home, time passed so quickly I had little time for everything I planned to do.

Having been in Camp Forrest, Tenn., for quite awhile and now up here at Ft. Lewis, I have had the opportunity to see a lot of the country. But now it looks like it won't be long until we get a chance to put in practice what we have learned. We are all ready and raring to go.

I hope that wherever I go the paper will follow me. Maybe it won't be long until it is all over and we can all assume our lives where we left off.

When the weather permits we have a very beautiful view of Mt. Rainier. Mind you, I said when the weather permits. I have been here eight days and I've seen the mountain twice. Rest of the time it has been raining as it is right now.

Well for tonight I say "Keep 'em Flying and the Japs a dying."

Sincerely
P.F.C. Lyle I. Taylor,

Paddock Publications:

I have wanted to write to you for a long time to let you know how much we enjoy and look forward to the Herald every week.

I am stationed with the 33rd Cavalry Reconnaissance Troop at Fort Lewis, Washington and have my wife and son with me. We are living at Olympia, Washington with my buddy and his wife from New York. We were lucky to be able to get a house as the housing situation is pretty bad here. The people are swell and surpass southern hospitality by a long shot. The winter rains have just started and it rains nearly every day. They never have any snow and it never gets below 18 degrees above all winter.

Tell the boys to keep up the good work on the paper. I sure peps one up when you are a long way from good old Arlington. I especially like the service men's page as it is a grand way to keep in touch with old friends. It's getting late, so I think I'll turn in and get some sleep.

Sincerely,
Cpl. Russ Davis

London

Rudy Hajek writes that he is enjoying London and sent picture post card of places of interest that he has visited. The boys all miss candy and gum and those that smoke aren't very fond of English cigarettes.

S-Sgt. Lowell Haemker is also in London and tells us in his letter that he is beginning to enjoy himself. The people are more friendly to the boys than they were when the army first arrived. Lowell says that he has been invited to the homes of many of them and one old couple in particular asked him to share their dinner which was very closely rationed. Lowell said that he sized up the situation and declined with thanks. The U. S. army is very well fed and he has no complaints on the food.

There was a happy meeting somewhere on the Pacific about Oct. 20, when Sailor Arthur Miller and Marine Alfred Krueger both of Wheeling, met for the first time since January, 1941. At that time Alfred joined the Marines and Arthur went to sea on the U.S.S. Salt Lake City. Arthur told of their meeting in an air mail letter written Oct. 20, postmarked the 30th and received by the Millers on Nov. 3.

Staff Sergeant Floyd Bauman of Arlington Heights is stationed at Salt Lake City, Utah. A recent card disclosed that he and a lieutenant had the job of escorting 100 men to San Francisco. "Just like a furlough," spoke Floyd of his trip.

P.F.C. James Uptadel of Wheeling, writes that the rainy season is again starting in the South Pacific Island where he is stationed and will continue until next April. Jim says bigger and better crops of mosquitoes can be expected soon and Jim must know. He is hoping to get back to the states on a furlough before long.

England

1st Lt. Wilbert W. Busse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Busse, of Mt. Prospect, is stationed somewhere in England. He left America the early part of August with the Motor Transport Division.

Lt. Busse is a graduate of Northwestern Military and Naval Academy, and was a reserve officer at the time he entered service, May 29, 1941.

He was married to Miss Dorothy Nielson of Wauconda, Sept. 23, 1939, at St. Paul's Lutheran church in Mt. Prospect.

Lt. Busse was sent to Camp Holabird, Baltimore, Md., where he trained two months as a teacher in the Motor Repair Base. In April, 1942, he was promoted to First Lieutenant.

After Camp Holabird he was sent to Camp Normoyle, San Antonio, Texas, where he and Mrs. Busse spent a year. Then he transferred to the Atlanta Motor Base, Atlanta, Ga., and from Atlanta went to New Jersey. This was his last camp before being sent abroad.

The biggest event that has happened to Lt. Busse, was the birth of a son, Thomas Wilbert, September 1, of this year. His letters home contain explicit instructions to the family on how to raise his boy, and warnings not to spoil him.

A letter was received from him November 6, mailed October 29, making this the fastest delivery of any letter from him. It takes a month for him to get letters from home.

He says in his letter that he has passed through the beautiful "Stratford-on-Avon" Shakespeare's birthplace, in the heart of England. He thinks it is the most beautiful spot in the world. The scenery in England is very beautiful. The English people are all very nice to the Americans there.

The officer's mail is not subject to the regular censor, but is inspected by the Army Examining Board.

He says he is trying to get used to the value of the English money, which is the kind in which he gets paid.

He also has a hard time remembering to drive on the left side of the road. He likes his work and asks his wife to give his best regards to everyone back home, and also to their friends in Texas.

Army Looks for T.B. Among Recruits

California

Paddock Publications are publishing the following letter from Sgt. Ralph Tague of Arlington who is on desert maneuvers in southern California.

Dear Friends:

Another month has gone again. It seems like the time just flies out here where there is no difference in days. We are doing some tiresome training out here in southern California from early morning until dark every evening.

Only recreation is an outdoor movie every night. Once a month we are given a three day pass to Los Angeles, San Bernardino, or Phoenix. I've already had my pass for this month so it looks like I'll have to be content staying here for the next three week-ends.

About two nights ago I took a peep and drove into the town of Parker about 34 miles from here across the Colorado river. This town is our nearest means of telephone communications and what a burg. Just the same it feels pretty good to see some buildings, stores, paved streets instead of just looking at and breathing sand all day.

The evenings have turned quite cool lately, so now I guess we're going to get those canvas folding army cots to sleep on instead of the ground. I won't know how to act if I ever hit a bed with springs again. First few nights on the ground were really something. We would all wake up in the morning stiff as boards, and when we took our exercises, our bones would crack.

One thing—the food is good here and we get plenty California orange juice. Can't kick in that regard.

Someone told me yesterday that the U. S. tried to give this land back to the Indians, but they didn't want it. So I guess Uncle Sam has really found some good use of it anyway.

Ralph's address is Service Co. 69th A.R., A.P.O. 256, desert maneuvers, c/o Postmaster, Los Angeles, California.

Texas

Lieutenant W. E. Koppliv of Arlington writes this week from Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

Hi folks:
Can you imagine me writing a letter on a Saturday night, when all good men have dates? It so happens that I am battalion officer of the day, and have a twenty-four hour duty tour. It started today at 5 p. m. and lasts until tomorrow at the same hour. This wouldn't be so bad but I just got off as post officer of the guard last night at 5:00. This is the third guard I've had in ten days. It really gets monotonous.

Our outfit is going to be sent to Camp McCoy, Wisconsin, near Sparta. I'm going to be sent up there next Saturday afternoon. (Ed.: November 14), as the advance party. I'll have three or four men with me to get things in shape for the arrival of the rest of the company. It's only about 200 miles from Chi, so I hope to get home often. My only regret is that it will be so terribly cold in comparison to what it is down here. I have been receiving the Arlington paper regularly, and will add that I enjoy reading it. I can keep track of how the local bowlers are getting on. That is the first thing I look for, as I get quite a kick out of the number of teams they have bowling now. Give my regards to the gang, and let me know how things are.

Duke.

An undisclosed number of fighters and bomber pilots today are being awarded the silver wings of full fledged army aviators at seven schools in the Gulf Coast Army Air Forces Training Center, headquarters at Randolph Field.

"Another group of the finest air fighters in the world," commented Major General H. R. Harmon, training center commander, on graduation eve.

New pilots from this area include:
Lieut. Robert W. Haake, 407 Ioka Ave., Mt. Prospect (Kelly)
Lieut. Trygve J. Maseng, 502 S. Main St., Mt. Prospect (Lubbock)

Pvt. Otto Jahrling of Arlington Heights spent last week-end visiting his folks at home. "Butch" still likes his job jumping for Uncle Sam. Jahrling is a paratrooper in the 368th S.S. Bks. 224, Scott Field, Ill.

Bud Field of Palatine, formerly an army air cadet at Santa Ana, California, has been transferred to Sequoia Field, Vesalia, California, for his primary training. Says Mrs. Field, a former Arlington Heights girl, "the weather, scenery, jobs, and people are swell out here."

Christmas shopping to be normal this year

Stocks on shelf 90% of last year; must buy early for mailing

Department stores all over the country are busier these days as Christmas shoppers begin gift-buying from well stocked shelves. One reason for the early start — a month ahead of schedule — is the fact that gifts will have to be in the mails earlier than usual this year. Postoffices predict the heaviest rush on record and it's going to be quite a problem. Their forces have been depleted by the war with the result that the postman in many places doesn't ring twice these days. Then, too, the railroads must add this volume of mail to bulging shipments of war materials. So this is one year that the admonition "Do your Christmas shopping early" will mean just that.

Nevertheless, the first war-time Christmas in twenty-five years finds stores with a nearly normal selection of merchandise from which to select Yuletide gifts. Although manufacturers have been working against handicaps, due to material shortages, more than ninety per cent of the items customarily sold at Christmas are available this year. This is indicated by Hughston M. McBain, first vice president of Marshall Field & Company, Chicago department store, in reporting results of a survey made by merchandise managers. Many of the items, he explains, were manufactured in Wickard said that success of the farm manpower program next year would depend to a considerable extent on the employment of more women and girls and older people on the country's farms.

War Manpower Chairman McNutt said that all major war production plant soon will be required to schedule their manpower requirements in the same manner they must now schedule need for scarce raw materials. Official instructions and forms for bringing about the orderly withdrawal of workers from war industries for the Armed Forces are now available to war contractors and of essential civilian activities, he said. Federal Labor inspectors operators will be assigned to the plants "to see that labor is being utilized properly" and those plants which fail to cooperate will be subject to "what-ever sanctions there are available."

Materials plan

The WPB established the controlled materials plan to boost war production through elimination of all nonessential production. WPB Vice Chairman Erbstadt will direct the plan which will adjust production schedules within material supply to meet production requirements. The plan will operate as follows — The WPB Requirements Committee will allot controlled materials — at first only carbon and alloy steel, copper and aluminum — to the "claimant agencies" — Army, Navy, Maritime Commission, the Aircraft Production Unit, Lend — Lease, Board of Economic Warfare and Office of Civilian Supply. Claimant agencies will then make allotments to prime contractors producing essential goods. The prime contractors will divide their allotments among subcontractors and suppliers.

Wages

Chairman Davis of the War Labor Board said the WLB, in stabilizing incomes less than $5,000, "will act on the presumption that wage rates prevailing on September 15, 1942, are proper." The Board said "if a group of employees has received increases amounting to 15 per cent of their average straight-time rates over the level prevailing on Jan. 1, 1941, the Board will not grant further increases as a correction for maladjustment to the wage rate inequities and the gross inequities which may require adjustment under the stabilization program are those which represent manifest injustices that arise from unusual and unreasonable differences in wage rates."

Tires, gas

The Office of Price Administration announced all passenger cars will be eligible for recapping services or for replacement tires under the national mileage program effective November 22, but motorists will be limited by quotas to be assigned to rationing boards. The grade of tires allowed in case recapping is impossible will be determined by the amount of mileage allowed applicants in their gas ration books.

Motorists asking more mileage than the basic ration furnish specific detailed information about their driving, the requirements of forms issued by OPA and available from November 12-15 at school houses designated as registration sites. If the applicant's essential mileage is more than 150 miles a month, but less than 470, he will

LIFE WITH MOTHER

Dear Mary,

If you really would enjoy seeing the Grant Wood pictures again with me, I'd like to go on OUR DAY . . . you know I'm planning on Saturday, November the fourteenth . . . Dave's all set to stay at home with Estelle and keep the children under control . . . please keep your fingers crossed for us so that nothing happens to prevent our having this one day together . . .

Right now our lives are so full of interest and happiness, that it's difficult for me to realize that the entire world is in the midst of a horrible war . . . as Dave puts it, "We were too young for the last war and now we're too old for this one" . . . now that the matter has been settled, I can tell you something that I've been keeping to myself for weeks . . . Dave has been convinced for some time that because we've had no bombings or fighting on our soil that most of us can't appreciate what a tremendous and terrible task our country has undertaken in entering the war . . . he feels that in order to win an enduring peace we've eventually going to need the services of every able bodied man . . . he says we can't go on indefinitely ly saying, "let Tom, Dick or Harry serve . . . they have no children" . . . if we're fighting for those very children . . . that they may grow up to a world free of blood shed and with the conception of justice and liberty for all peoples of the world . . . SO . . . Dave tried to enlist in the navy . . . he passed the necessary tests here in Chicago and his application was sent on to Washington . . . you, I'm sure can imagine the feelings of Estelle and me during these past weeks that we've been waiting to hear from Washington . . . the word has come that right now they DO NOT need his services . . . your old friend, Eleanor, takes a very deep breath of honest but certainly selfish relief . . .

We've said nothing about this because we both felt that if he had been accepted by the Navy he might have had to face some criticism . . . there are those who would have said that he went to unnecessary length to prove his patriotism . . . he being the father of three small children . . . but you have your cousin Anne and I have my friend Marian, both of whose husbands, because they were in the Reserve have gone to serve several small children . . . I allowed Dave to make his own decision in this matter . . . I consider now that I've been almost sick at the thought of his leaving us . . . but as you know, I couldn't have married Dave or loved him so much, if I didn't believe that he's far more capable than I to make the major decisions of our life . . . But to speak of happier things . . . Dave is so impressed with school that we all practically live school around here . . . every afternoon when the boys get up from their nap they play school . . . Dave's always THE TEACHER and little fat Louis gets TEACHED . . . I told Sister Longina one day that I'm sure she'd be much amused if she could drop in here some time and see how perfectly Dave can imitate her . . . he even puts on a ladylike voice and ladylike gestures . . . as for Louis, he's so thrilled to have his adored big brother playing with him that he makes on the whole a very apt and attentive pupil . . . of course there are times when he proves quite annoying to his TEACHER . . . for instance, he's too fond of adding a line from his favorite Mother Goose verse to any new song or poem he's being taught . . . the other day he had to stand in the corner for some time because after repeating the Sign of the Cross very well until he came to the end where he should have folded his hands together and said, "Amen", he reached up and said, "Chin chopper, chin chopper" . . . then at the end of a new poem about the Jack-o-Lanterns he added, "Fie upon you, Fie upon you, bold faced jig" . . . this was taken by Teacher as a personal insult so Louis received quite a lecture on "Respect Children Should Have for Their Elders" . . . Dave is so delighted with Dave's ability to recite the poems and sing the songs that he's always getting him to repeat them . . . I've warned Dave that I won't have a friend left if he insists on having Dave perform for each new person who enters the house . . .

School seems to bring some new experience nearly every day to Dave and me as parents . . . you would have smiled if you could have seen how happy and important I felt when I set out last month to attend my first meeting of the Parent Teacher's Ass'n . . . this was a luncheon and afternoon meeting for mothers only . . . next week when the November meeting is held it is to be at night and the fathers are coming too! . . . if you could hear Dave telling some one about this, you'd swear he'd been elected to congress and was going to a Senate meeting instead of to the P. T. A. . . . Yesterday Dave brought home his first report card . . . this all important document was read solemnly aloud by Daddy after dinner . . . on the whole it was very good . . . the worst feature was that our heir doesn't always remember to say, "Good morning," "Thank you," "Please," and "Excuse me." . . . Dave said he expected a better mark in this department next time . . . As to the music lessons you inquired about, they're our real delight . . . we were recommended to the teacher, a Mrs. Haberkorn, by one of the "mothers" I've just met . . . have you ever heard of the Robyn method of teaching preschool children? . . . we're pleased with the results so far . . . you must see our books and hear Dave play then you can advise me . . . but you'll love to see Louis getting up and playing! . . . it's amazing to see how well he does from just watching Dave . . . do come in to see us soon, won't you? . . . don't let this letter with its dire threats of children performing scare you off . . . I promise you that I'll keep Dave under control in this matter . . .

We all send our love . . . Dave wants particularly to be remembered to George and Louis says, "Luv to Edwood" . . .

Hughes elaborates on question of truck permits

"Any number of farmers have asked if they will be permitted to operate their trucks legally when no Certificate of Necessity has been received before the deadline, November 15," states Farm Adviser Hughes. The law states that no operation is permitted without a Certificate. However, when a farmer has been diligent and sent in his request and has not received a Certificate for some reason he will be at a disadvantage. Some will choose to operate any how. In that case we suggest you paste a paper on your windshield stating "Certificate of Necessity applied for on (date) signed _____". We do not guarantee this will meet the provisions of the law but it would seem to be a reasonable procedure.

When application cards have not been received write Office of Defense Transportation, Central Mailing Office, Post Office Box 2250, Detroit, Michigan giving your name, address and license number of your truck for 1942, and make of your truck.

Cars and station wagons without permanent removal of seats used to carry merchandise do not take a Certificate. Neither do tractors, trailers pulled by private cars, and regular farm machinery require a Certificate. When a Certificate is issued for any of the above exemptions it should be returned to the Detroit address with a letter of explanation.

4-H clubs map new program for wartime

National 4-H Achievement Week is being observed throughout the Nation this week, November 7th to 14th, inclusive. As has been announced the observance of this week will be devoted to broadcasting by means of radio, newspaper articles, and local programs to the people of this nation, "The Work Our 4-H Boys and Girls Are Doing With the War Effort," announces Mrs. Marie Cornelius, Home Adviser, who is in charge of the home economics program in Cook County. Many do not have already listened to some of the recent broadcasts featuring the activities carried on through 4-H club programs.

Last spring many of our young people joined with other members of 4-H clubs all over the nation in a Mobilization Week, mobilizing our youth for the war effort. The effects of this mobilization have been apparent all through the summer.

In the girls' clubs throughout Cook County, they have been growing Victory gardens, canning, drying, freezing and salting foods for home consumption, making and remodeling garments, planning and preparing meals and learning good nutrition as well as health habits.

Many did knitting for the Red Cross and nearly all members had some instruction in first aid.

Twelve clubs are planning to continue their 4-H meetings this winter. Members like to get together for a good time and they like to accomplish something. Most of our clubs plan to have several parties during the winter and also "Victory Aiders" by helping in the war effort.

The girls' clubs during the coming winter months have a choice of miscellaneous Victory projects from which to choose. They consist of bond and stamp sales, Red Cross contributions, letters and scrap books to service men, first aid kits for schools, toy repair, child care while adults are working and Christmas baskets for needy families and many others.

During the past year Cook County had an enrollment of 201 members and the outlook for next year is for a much larger enrollment. Cook County 4-H girls can be proud of their 1941 record. They have carried through their part in the Victory campaign and will continue to do so throughout the year 1943.

Suggest hog vaccine for hog losses

"For the past few weeks there have been many very heavy losses from hog troubles in Cook County," states Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes. "Some of these losses are plainly from cholera, and others are from different troubles. At any rate there has been a terrific toll on the hog business in northern Cook County that should be prevented at all possible."

"We suggest the following procedure: First we would advise vaccination for hog cholera using the double treatment. Apparently there is some inclination to use the single treatment which is O. K. if hogs are sick but for the most part we do not believe that hogs should be vaccinated unless the double treatment is used and they become permanently immune from cholera. When hogs are already sick it may be advisable to use a single treatment. Also there are some vaccines for swine Erysipelas which are fairly effective. Mixed infection vaccines are fairly effective and may be used at the time hogs are vaccinated for cholera."

"At any rate as long as hogs are in good condition it certainly would pay to try and protect them from the various troubles that are in the country at this time. They are too valuable property to take too many chances on."

Make application for frozen farm machinery thru AAA

All farm machinery has been frozen, an inventory is being taken and it will subsequently be rationed by rationing committees of farmers operating as sub-committees of the U.S.D.A. War Board. Farmers wanting machinery should make applications at the A.A.A. offices in the Farm Bureau buildings and have them filed awaiting the rationing procedure.

Labor prevents increase in farm output

Fifty-eight per cent of the Henderson county farmers surveyed by Farm Adviser A. J. Rehling reported they would be unable to increase farm production in 1943 in the light of present farm labor and machinery conditions. Only 20 per cent predicted they could increase production, while the rest were doubtful.

Of 454 farmers who answered the question, 164 reported that hired help had left them this year to take jobs elsewhere, while 121 out of 311 who answered the question said they had lost hired help or family labor to the armed services.

Output to be Reduced

Forty per cent of the farmers estimated they would have to reduce their crop production next year and 44 per cent of them estimated they would have to reduce livestock production as a result of the labor situation. Forty-two per cent felt they would not have to reduce crop production and 38 per cent believed they would not have to curtail livestock production. The rest were doubtful.

A total of 224 farmers out of 424 who answered the question said they would need additional machinery to carry out their 1943 production program.

Handicraft can be good remedy for war jitters

For wartime jitters, the first-aid remedy is handicraft. Creation of such home-made Christmas gifts as quilt tops, hand-made rugs and chair mats, or decorative wooden trays and boxes, or even the knitting of sweaters, scarfs and socks for the men of the armed forces does much more than make someone else happy, explains Miss Dorothy Elwig, home furnishings specialist, University of Illinois College of Agriculture. It is a means to mental and physical satisfaction.

Many people feel that they should actively be participating in some measure of war work in their spare time. While this is highly necessary and to be commended, there are times when every one must "let down" from the constant mental strain. Handicraft that can be "picked up" in between times is serving a definite purpose in helping every member of the family keep on even keel.

This year it will be harder than ever to find some Christmas gifts at the store. The man-of-the-house who has been used to buying his wife some silk hose might just as well make up his mind that the most acceptable gift will be some practical article which he can carve or build — a bookshelf or flower stand for example. Home-carved puzzles and games might prove highly acceptable to the children or they in turn might make the game boards for cousins or other members of the family. Even carved wooden pins or buckles for dress ornaments would be appreciated. The children might make colorful covers for books or magazines.

About the only points to remember when making any kind of handicraft is to keep it practical and pleasing in color and design. Articles which are too brilliant in color often are not practical to use because they do not fit in with other surroundings, Miss Elwig cautioned.

Tire outlook for farm trucking is critical

Urge immediate planting of trees and evergreens

Now is the time for fall planting of trees, shrubs, evergreens and spring-blooming perennials, according to H. W. Gilbert, assistant professor of landscape gardening extension University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Commercial planters know this and will do their planting before the end of November, he said.

Plants going into the ground immediately will have time to establish new roots in the warm soil. This will increase their likelihood of living over the first year after transplanting. Furthermore, it is easier to obtain planting stock now than in the spring when nurserymen are rushed with filling orders. Another incentive is that fall planting in wartime will allow more time in the spring for planting victory vegetables and other annual crops.

On the whole, this has been a good year for growth, and plants are very vigorous this fall, Gilbert said.

Balled and burlapped evergreens should be going into the ground now and no later than early November, he recommended. The sooner after killing frost that hardy trees and shrubs are set out, the better, for they will have more time to settle and condition themselves for the winter that is to follow. Fleshy rooted sorts such as the Magnolia, tulip tree, birch and sweet shrub are the best set out in the spring, but most other trees and shrubs fare as well or better if fall planted.

Careful handling of the stock while transplanting is fully as important as the time of planting, Gilbert said. Broken balls on evergreens may cause their death.

Evergreens are best set out at the same depth that they stood before moving. This means that the home owner will want to examine the crown of his plant to see if any surface soil was removed before the balling and burlapping process so that he may be sure the plant is set to an adequate depth. Holes of more than adequate width and depth should be dug not only to give the root system of the tree plenty of room to stretch out but also to provide space for new top soil. Soil should be stamped firmly about the roots until the hole is three-fourths full, then thoroughly watered. On the following day, the remainder of the soil may be filled in. In the case of evergreens, adequate watering is of prime importance since the soil should be moist well down around all the roots at the time when the ground freezes up for winter.

Ground cornbobs, soybean hay, well-decayed barnyard manure or straw may be used as a mulch around newly set plants. This material is best applied in late fall when cold weather is close at hand.

New wartime problems in the transportation of farm products are posed for county farm advisers and other agricultural leaders in the results of a survey of 1,401 commercial and general farm trucks which has just been completed by the department of agricultural economics of the College of Agriculture.

Most of the trucks hauling farm products to market will have disappeared from the roads in another two years or else suitable replacements will have to be found for the tires they are now using, the survey revealed.

"Replacement tires made available through rationing boards are far fewer than the number necessary during the next 12 months, assuming the same mileage as during the past year," it was pointed out by L. J. Norton, chief in marketing and in charge of the study. "Second, while the prospective mileage in farm truck tires is relatively high, many of these tires are old. How well they will stand up under heavy hauling is uncertain."

Maximum conservation of tires is imperative in the face of evidence that the average life of a tire is less than two years. Tires should not be over-loaded, trucks should not move with part loads and no truck should drive an unnecessary mile," it was pointed out.

Operators of 570 livestock trucks estimated that 62% of their 3,898 tires would run less than a year and that 85 per cent of them would go less than two years. Fifty-one per cent of 1,550 tires on 825 milk trucks hauling to the St. Louis market were expected to last less than a year and 81 per cent of them less than two years. These included both farm and commercial trucks.

In the case of 1,926 tires of 240 trucks hauling peaches, 91 per cent were expected to last less than two years. Of 808 tires of 137 trucks (vegetable) primarily farm trucks, hauling into Chicago, 25 per cent were expected to last less than one year and 49 per cent less than two years.

Operators of 81 commercial trucks in Douglas county estimated that 62 per cent of their 528 tires would not serve more than one year and that 82 per cent of them would not run more than two years. On the other hand of 442 tires on 88 Douglas county farm trucks, only 21 per cent were expected to run less than one year and only 47 per cent less than two years. Complete reports of the survey may be obtained from the college.

It Happened Here

It was just one of those days; first, the garbage collectors who usually make a noise like a herd of elephants, stole a march on us and left without the basket of smashed tins for the Government; thor- oughly exasperating and now the Government looks askance at our efforts. Then the north storm win- dow over the feeding shelf came unhooked at the top and hung pre- cariously over the cement area steps, held in place by the slender clamps screwed into soft wood; heart failure seemed to be indi- cated with every glance at the win- dow and no help within call. We phoned Earl only to learn later that he had been called up by his draft board and now likely the army just how the army is going to assimilate Earl, for Earl and time never synchronized, but we do know he's set to polishing off the Japs he'll stick to it until he "gits the wuk done". Failing to locate Earl, we called the carpenter responsible for the storm window; his wife was very sympathetic and said she would send him right over as soon as he came from work at five o'clock; it turned out that they went to prayer meeting and a church dinner instead and that left the window still hanging at an angle. But by that time Peggy was home and routed out our good friend and Jack of all trades, Mr. Jensen. "Yes," he said, "first in Europe I am a bricklayer, yes, and I do a little plastering, too; my father, he is cooper so I learn the trade and to do carpenter work, too. By the first World's Fair I come here; my brother-in-law is painter and I learn to mix paints so I paint my own building, see? My neighbor is plumber and I learn pipe fitting, yes, and I work in the cemetery and lay the sprink- ling system and I work in concrete and lay foundations for monuments." So he rescued the storm window and gave an extra re-en- forcement to the clamps so they wouldn't come unhooked again— good workman.
